

1 NO POVERTY – Mia Müller

The "No Poverty" goal is a crucial part of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, which aim to create a more just and equitable world for all. This goal is focused on eradicating extreme poverty and reducing inequality around the world, and it is designed to help ensure that everyone has access to the resources they need to live a dignified life.

The targets of this goal are wide-ranging and ambitious. They include reducing the number of people living in extreme poverty, increasing access to basic services and resources like food, water, and healthcare, promoting economic growth and sustainable development, and reducing inequality within and between countries. Achieving these targets will require a concerted effort from governments, civil society, and the private sector, as well as from individuals and communities around the world.

By working towards this goal, we can help build a world where everyone has access to the resources they need.

Volunteering at a local charity is a good way to make a difference in your community. People could help out at a food bank, a homeless shelter, or a youth center. Donating to a charity that helps fight poverty is also a good way to help. There are many great organizations out there that work to provide food, shelter, and other essential services to people in need. Finally, you could simply help out someone in need. Whether it's donating some spare change to a homeless person or helping a neighbor with their groceries, small acts of kindness can go a long way in the fight against poverty.
